

Disgruntled Lyrics

- You expect dancing every day, and sometimes I'm not at a place to really participate in class and I need to rest. I think the department should allow us to watch dance class and not dance when I need to rest, but I should not lose my points. (info: students are expected to dance and they cannot earn participation points when sitting on the side)
- I think the department is racist - there is nobody here who is of color like me! I'm reporting this to the Dean. (info: we have multiple people of color on staff and faculty in dance)
- Why aren't you preparing me for my certification tests? You should be teaching me how to take the test. That is why I am not passing. You aren't doing your job. (info: the test prep is on one's own with offered study resources, no one class/person does test prep)
- I think you should not have had us read that chapter. I think the author is ableist and racist. No one should have to ever read that chapter. You must be just like the author.
- I can't go to rehearsal. I have work. I need to be released from this. This isn't fair. (info: students have to attend rehearsal and not attending affects the grade and the outcome of the performance)
- I don't think you can use that music for your dance. You aren't from that culture. This is racist.
- She is canceled. I can't learn anything from someone that comes from a privileged background. There is no way she can understand me. I don't want her as my teacher.
- This department doesn't offer the classes I think they should offer. I think they should be teaching X, Y, and Z. No one here knows what they are doing. Why haven't you decolonized everything yet!
- That professor is a really bad professor. They don't know how to run a class, how to communicate, and I don't understand or learn anything in their class. I think they should not be a professor, or they should teach like this other professor that is really good.
- I'm tired of writing this paper/thesis. You keep giving me feedback and I just want it to be done. And I don't even know what you want.
